

LA as Subject STRATEGIC PLAN 2013-2015

Welcome Statement by Executive Committee

LA as Subject began as a research project in 1993. In 2005, its participants resolved to become an independent membership organization with its own Charter. Over the next seven years, LA as Subject members, supported by the University of Southern California Libraries, established a leadership group in its Executive Committee. Since then, Committee members and other participants have dedicated time, assembled resources, and volunteered for workshops, monthly meetings, the annual Archives Bazaar and a new online, interactive website.

A new Executive Committee took the helm in Summer 2011 with renewed energy and creative ideas for the future development of LA as Subject to combine traditional archival goals with new technology, social media, and powerful new communication tools.

The group now seeks to channel these ideas into actions. After thoughtful analysis and member input, the resulting plan will provide direction for the years ahead: to clarify and justify activities which strengthen individual members and the network as a whole; to establish a standard whereby the Executive Committee and Membership will revisit stated goals and objectives; and to assess accomplishments, and establish new ones as necessary.

The LA as Subject Charter lays out our mission, operating procedures and relationship with our members and host institution, while this strategic plan establishes the framework that will help us achieve the mission established in the Charter.

In July 2011, the Executive Committee held a strategic planning retreat to identify possible activities for the organization over the next few years. The Committee supplemented its collective brainstorming with member suggestions. Ideas and recommendations representing a dozen potential directions were also clustered around the Mission Statement. These concepts were distilled into a dozen core "strategic directions."

The Executive Committee presented this strategy to the membership in Fall 2011. The entire LA as Subject membership was surveyed to rank what they saw as the priorities for their own institutions, collections and the organization as a whole. The results were analyzed and the highest priorities were reviewed by the Executive Committee, then further refined into three core strategic directions with supporting activities.

The Strategic Roadmap was created to be a "living document," meant to be revisited and reassessed every three years. LA as Subject will generate an annual report-to serve as a benchmark of our progress towards achieving the goals outlined in the Strategic Roadmap. It will also inform new and prospective Executive Committee members as to what types of activities they can expect to work on as well as how any member can become more involved.

The Executive Committee, LA as Subject Coordinator, and host University of Southern California Libraries will focus time and resources on these directions and supporting activities on behalf of LA as Subject members and in service of Los Angeles' historical heritage.

About LA as Subject

The L.A. as Subject Archives Forum, known simply as LA as Subject, is a research alliance dedicated to preserving and improving access to The L.A. as Subject Archives Forum, known simply as LA as Subject, is a research alliance dedicated to preserving and improving access to the materials that document the rich histories and cultures of Los Angeles. Much of the city's history is preserved in libraries, museums, and other cultural institutions. Other valuable and unique collections – those that reveal the stories of neighborhoods, families, and influential Angelenos – are scattered across Southern California and beyond, curated by smaller institutions and individual enthusiasts. With an online directory of more than 230 separate collections, L.A. as Subject ensures that researchers know what materials are available, where they are located, and how to access them.

L.A. as Subject's biggest undertaking is the annual Los Angeles Archives Bazaar, a congregation of members that brings their unique collections together into one place. The event allows scholars, researchers, archivists, librarians, students, and history enthusiasts to browse the broad collections of the alliance's members.

In addition to the annual Archives Bazaar, members meet every two months to network with others in the profession and share best practices. Held in a different location each time, the bi-monthly meeting enables participants to see how other members' collections are organized and observe different preservation methods.

L.A. as Subject is an independent member organization. As host institution, the University of Southern California Libraries work with LA as Subject to enrich educational programming, improve the content and accessibility of the directory database, and expand our membership and our use of technology to enhance community outreach.

History

The LA as Subject Archives Forum was originally convened in 1997 by the Getty Research Institute as the LA as Subject Advisory Forum to support the work of its four-year research project, L.A. as Subject (1995–1999). The Advisory Forum produced the landmark print publication Cultural Inheritance/L.A.: A Directory of Less-Visible Archives and Collections in the Los Angeles Region (Getty Research Institute, 1999) and simultaneously released a companion online database, both of which provided detailed descriptions of the archives and collections of over 175 regional institutions. The companion online database was transferred to the University of Southern California’s Archival Research Center in 2000 and is now updated and published online. The Advisory Forum changed in name in 2004 to the LA as Subject Archives Forum becoming an independent organization with its own Charter and policies.

In August, 2009, the LA as Subject Archives Forum Executive Committee and Dean Catherine Quinlan of the University of Southern California Libraries committed to a continuing relationship, launching a new era of collaboration. L.A. as Subject remains an independent member organization with financial and institutional support from University of Southern California Libraries. The University Libraries have committed substantive resources to shape communications, seek grant funding, produce the annual Los Angeles Archives Bazaar, and assist with technological expertise and fund the professional position for an LA as Subject Coordinator.

Mission, Goals

The LA as Subject Archives Forum is an association of institutions archivists, artists, librarians, local leaders, and researchers dedicated to improving the visibility, access, and preservation of archives and collections documenting the rich history of the Los Angeles region. The Forum seeks to articulate the challenges posed by the large and complex subject of “Los Angeles,” broadly defined, with its diverse languages, peoples, neighborhoods, geography, institutions, environments, cultures, and histories. The Forum provides opportunities for networking among all our members and with the larger public, on the major issues affecting archives and collections pertaining to Los Angeles.

The Forum pursues the following goals:

1. Improve visibility of and access to archives with Los Angeles-focused collections through such activities as publishing collection information via its online LA as Subject database and website;
2. Promote services to archives with LA-focused collections on such issues as preservation, documentation, exhibition, fund-raising, and public outreach;
3. Advocate for the interests of archives with LA-focused collections through outreach to professional and educational organizations whose activities affect the well-being of member archives;
4. Expand research on Los Angeles by encouraging researchers of all backgrounds to use member archives, and by helping to develop new collections.

The mission and goals above are excerpted from the LA as Subject Charter, which is available in its entirety at our website.

Strategic Plan

Strategic Direction #1: LA as Subject will develop resources and foster collaborative projects of value for members to share and promote their collections and historical knowledge online.

Archivists and our potential users live in an increasingly visual online environment. With the support of University of Southern California Libraries, LA as Subject will develop sophisticated tools for exhibition and promotion online at its website and with other partners. Organized under the LA as Subject name, these collaborative endeavors will strengthen our shared mission and unify our diverse group of unique, independent archives and services.

SUPPORTING ACTIVITIES:

- Investigate the value of producing signature materials such as electronic postcards, LA as Subject “icons” for member institutions websites, a standardized email signature, and publishing regular newsletters and annual reports.
- Explore the viability of a series of online exhibits featuring content from member collections, and assess the feasibility of having LA as Subject website host this content or prominently feature and link to it.
- Consider developing an LA as Subject video channel that features an array of creative, engaging short videos for promotion of members and their collections, “how to” training on all things archival, and playlists of Los Angeles-oriented aggregated content from other sources.
- Conduct a comprehensive review of the LA as Subject Membership Directory so that members’ profiles reflect their collections and assets; provide up-to-date information; and describe types of content in order that more effective discovery tools can be designed.
- Work with the USC web team and LA as Subject members to explore development, production and distribution of mobile applications(s) that provide direct access to news, events, and collection highlights related to Los Angeles history.
- Analyze what makes the LA as Subject/KCET Blog partnership successful to identify needs and desires in future collaborations.
- Explore opportunities for pooling resources and building shared digital archives for those members that do not have or cannot support their own digital repositories.

#2: LA as Subject will focus on building relationships with information seekers, research communities and regional groups.

We want to make it easier for scholarly researchers, students, and the public to learn more about Los Angeles, the region, its culture and history. LA as Subject members' collections and research members offer an extraordinary array of resources. An active effort to provide diverse ways to experience historical resources will strengthen the bond between those who preserve historical resources, the users and the community at large.

SUPPORTING ACTIVITIES

- Explore innovative partnerships—in particular with local colleges and universities, content creators and community affinity groups focused on Southern California—that aim to provide an engaging user experience.
- Create participatory experiences that bring people together --such as walking tours and scavenger hunts that enable people to engage with the City of Los Angeles as a place, or food and cultural events -- as a means to connect with users; and, of course, continue to offer the annual Archives Bazaar as a gathering place for members and the public.
- Explore the viability of using existing tools such as virtual union catalogs and federated searching technologies that exist statewide and nationally for libraries and archives—that can search holdings across institutions to expose our members' collections and resources that are currently difficult to locate.
- Assess the potential for an online LA as Subject Research Portal modeled on partnerships such as History Pin, the California Digital Library's Calisphere or Online Archive of California, Pasadena History Project, or another historical portal endeavor.
- Organize and present a "Los Angeles Summit," a scholarly event whereby LA as Subject takes a lead role in bringing together other entities that study and celebrate the Los Angeles Region to determine what is needed and desired to preserve the history of the area and keep it relevant. Such an event would bring together groups such as Loyola Marymount University Center for the Study of Los Angeles, the City of Los Angeles' "Survey L.A.," the Los Angeles Heritage Alliance, the Huntington-USC Institute on California and the West, and The Los Angeles Region Planning History Group.

#3: LA as Subject will build membership and facilitate member participation by expanding the LA as Subject infrastructure and programs beyond bi-monthly meetings.

LA as Subject provides its members with opportunities for professional development, networking with peers, and sharing resources. This is not a static organization but a dynamic one, whereby LA as Subject Members build and promote their collections and LA as Subject through our shared mission and organization. LA as Subject is fortunate to have a host institution with our partner USC that provides a base for independent individuals and institutions to work together to preserve and bring forth Los Angeles history for its community. However, LA as Subject's greatest strength is in its membership.

SUPPORTING ACTIVITIES

- Examine and analyze our current membership “profile” / demographics. Develop protocols for recruiting new members and keeping members active.
- Encourage member participation at different levels and establish a network of liaisons such as affinity groups whether by geographic region or interest.
- Investigate other ways we can look at membership and participation to identify how to strengthen LA as Subject as a “well-rounded” network.
- Develop and launch preservation workshops that address all areas of archival concern – acquisition, assessment, description and care of materials.
- Create a plan for learning activities at bi-monthly meetings as well as stand-alone workshops.
- Develop ongoing needs assessment to determine what programs are the most relevant to the most members and create a plan for educational programming series/resources.
- Continue to host the annual Archives Bazaar and develop other forums that promote the individual members, their collections and commitment to Los Angeles history.

Activities/Benefits of Membership

- Inclusion in the LA as Subject Directory for Archives Members
- Eligibility to participate as an exhibitor in the annual Archives Bazaar
- Eligibility to participate in LA as Subject collaborative and grant-funded projects
- Access to 230+ institutions and individuals in the LA as Subject network
- Subscription to “LA as Subject Bulletin” monthly newsletter for LAAS members only from LA as Subject committee members

Membership

Eligibility: Membership in the Forum is open to any public or private institution, organization, or individual committed to identifying, preserving, and disseminating the primary records of the cultural, economic, ethnic, political, and social history of the Los Angeles region.

Members may vote on proposals, list their collections in the online directory of archives, receive news through the LA as Subject listserv, promote their home institution’s upcoming events, attend regular meetings, and take advantage of the many opportunities to network within the region’s archival community.

Types of Memberships

- (1) Institutions, organizations, and individuals owning, holding, or administering primary records of the history of the Los Angeles region are classed as “Archive Members.” Archive Members are institutions, organizations, or individuals that hold, produce and/or preserve materials about the Los Angeles region, and provide researchers reasonable access to these materials. Independent units of larger entities (e.g., the Special Collections Department, Map Library, and Business School Archive of the same university) are each eligible for a separate membership, with separate profiles in the Membership Database and Resource Directory, provided they are separately administered and distinct in collection scope. Archive Members have full access to the Members website to maintain their profile, participate in Forums, announce events, and attend functions and meetings.

- (2) Institutions, organizations, and individuals not owning, holding, or administering such primary records are classed as “Research Members. “Research Members do NOT hold or preserve materials but support and promote the mission of LA as Subject, either as independent archivists, librarians, or curators; community activists; historians; researchers; or teachers. Researcher Members are listed in the LA as Subject Membership Database. Research Members have access to the Members website to participate in Forums, announce events, and attend functions and meetings.

- (3) Students—K-12, undergraduate, or graduate—in historical studies or archives management are encouraged to form student chapters of LA as Subject to further develop their research and professional interests, and support local archives and historical research. Student Chapter Members do NOT hold nor preserve materials but support and promote the mission of LA as Subject. Student Chapter Members are listed in the LA as Subject Membership Database, and have access to the Members website to participate in Forums, announce events, and attend functions and meetings.

How to become a member

A prospective member submits an application form to the Forum Coordinator. The Coordinator presents new applicants to the full Executive Committee for approval. Please visit online to apply.
